

Nirma INLU celebrates human rights day on Dec 10

The Human Rights Day was celebrated by the Institute of Law at Nirma University on December 10. The date was chosen to honour the United Nations General Assembly's (UNGA) adoption and proclamation, on 10 December 1948, of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, the first global manifesto of human rights and one of the first major achievements of the new United Nations. The event started with an inaugural address followed by a documentary screening on the history of the origin of human rights. After the screening, there was an analytical speech given by a law student. He informed the audience that human rights cannot be enforced unless we want to. According to him, starting the race away from problems is not humane. A skit was performed by 3 and 7 semester students which portrayed the gross violation of human rights that occur when a person is taken into custody. The event ended after a speech given by Dr. Justice J.N. Bharti, Hon'ble Chairperson for human rights for Gujarat.

Hon'ble Chief Justice of India H.L.Dattu addressing the ILNU Conference

The Hon'ble Chief Justice of India, H.L Dattu, coming from agriculturist background, stated that Agriculture is an integral part of who we are as a society and as a nation. He emphasized that we should be convinced by scientific reasons than believe on empty rhetoric and called for accepting an approach which is sustainable enough to reduce the climatic pressure and also to safeguard the interest of small and marginalized farmers. Hon'ble Justice guided the government on its developmental schemes for land acquisition and ensuring adequate compensation to the farmers. This Conference was attended by more than 150 farmers from Gujarat and the surrounding States.

Hon'ble Acting Chief Justice of Gujarat High Court, Justice V.M.Sahai speaking at the conference.

The Hon'ble Acting Chief Justice of High Court of Gujarat, V.M. Sahai said that there is a need to bring back old wisdom of the Vedas and learn from them while taking statutory actions to preserve environment. He stated that if proper mechanism for assessing carbon credit is put in place agriculture activity in India will emit zero pollutants and strengthen industries by reducing their pollution as there will be an increase in green cover.

His Excellency the Governor of Gujarat, Shri Om Prakash Kohli's address at the ILNU Conference

His Excellency the Governor of Gujarat, Shri Om Prakash Kohli while addressing the gathering said that if we look at the modern world we can see that during the last few decades the world has made tremendous progress but this development has caused serious environmental damages impairing the quality of life not only of our generations but of future generations also .The concept of sustainable development was discussed in detail. A book on "Climate Smart Agriculture-The Indian Perspective" was also launched at the function which consisted experiences of several farmers and scientists.
