Teachers' Day Celebration

Teachers are the compass which activates the magnet of curiosity, wisdom and knowledge in each and every one of us. September 5 – the birth anniversary of Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan is marked as Teachers' Day and we celebrate it with joy and a lot of excitement to show our love and respect towards our teachers. This year the celebrations were done virtually due to the Covid pandemic. The program started by seeking the blessing of Goddess Saraswati followed by dance performances, music and instrumental presentation by first and second year students, a small tribute to the hard work of our teacher in the form of skit by first year students, a fun quiz for all the teacher by second year students. As a token of love third year students presented a small speech about their memories with teachers.

Teachers play important part in any student's life but there always something special and different about each teacher and so to tell them what we as students feel is special about them, second year students presented them titles. With this fun and very interesting celebration, Prof.(Dr.) Udai Lal Paliwal - Dean ICNU motivated everyone for all the future projects.

The Teachers' Day is surely celebrated once in an year but teachers should be told and appreciated every day for all the hard-work, they put just tell share and spread knowledge.

Motivation Corner: A Motivator's Story

Contributed by Mr. Ashish Korat (Alumni, Batch of 2016-19)

"Success isn't always about greatness. It's about consistency. Consistent hard work leads to success. Greatness will come." – Dwayne Johnson, "The Rock".

What you were and what you are do not define what you will be. Your willingness, hard work, and consistency will help you achieve what you want to be. Here I am sharing a real-life story of an achiever.

The story is about a boy born and brought into a lower-middle-class family in Moviya, Gujarat. After completing 10th grade, he chose the science stream. He completed his Class 11 and had to pay Rs. 2500, however, he couldn't afford to pay that much money. So, he decided to drop out of the studies and started working as a labourer to support his family.

Every day, he used to go to the Diamond factory by cycling 7 km. On holidays, he worked as a daily wage labourer on a farm to earn some extra money. One day, when he was returning from his work, his school friends stopped him. They started teasing the boy and mocked him for not completing his studies.

This incident made him think about his life. "What am I doing with my life?" "Is this the way I want to spend my rest of the life?" The boy decided to continue his studies. He somehow managed to complete his Class 12 in commerce stream. Then, he took some money from his father and went to a city for Under Graduation. To afford his college fees, he started working as an office boy. In the morning, he was a college boy, and in the afternoon, he was an office boy.

The boy completed his graduation and post-graduation by working this way. One day, he came across a news article saying, "You too can become a government officer". The boy read the article and decided that he wanted to be a government officer. He started preparing for the exam. He successfully passed the exam and became a Class-2 officer. He did not stop there. He aspired to become a class-1 officer. He appeared for the GAS exam and cleared it by securing the third rank in entire Gujarat.

Still, he was not someone to stop there. He decided to become an IAS officer, so he worked wholeheartedly and sincerely for eight years. After eight years of rigorous service, he cleared the exam and became an IAS officer.

His name is Shailesh Sagpariya, a man who has seen a hard time from his childhood and has paved his way by overcoming all the problems. Currently, he is a Deputy Director in SPIPA, Rajkot. He has written many books and articles for Civil Service examinations. Also, he is a top-notch Motivational speaker and has published more than 30 books, wherein most of them have been declared as best seller.

खुद से मिलना चाहता हूं

By Naman Jain (Sem I)

ज़िन्दगी की भाग दौड़ में,
अब कहीं ठहर जाना चाहता हूं,
रातों में नज्मों को सुनते हुए,
ज़िन्दगी का सुकून चाहता हूं ।

कोई शिकवा नहीं है किसी से अब मुझे,
क्योंकि अब मैं रिहाई चाहता हूं,
अपनी दुनिया मैं कहीं खो जाना चाहता हूं,
अब मैं खुद से मिलना चाहता हूं....

बारिश के पानी में झुमना चाहता हूं,
और भरे पानी मैं आंखों से आंखें मिलाकर,
रंग मेरी रूह का देखना चाहता हूं,
उन हवाओं में अपने ज़ख्मों को सहलाना चाहता हूं,
अब तो बस मैं खुद से मिलना चाहता हूं....

यूँ तो बहुत दर्द है मेरी ज़िन्दगी में,
मगर उन्हें मैं खुले आम नीलाम नहीं करना चाहता हूं,
और तुम पूछोगे ज़रूर, क्या दर्द ए मुसाफिर,
मगर अब मैं उन सवालों को सुनना ही नहीं चाहता हूं,
दर्द कैसा और किसने दिया,
अब यह मैं सोचना ही नहीं चाहता हूं।
अब तो बस मैं खुद से मिलना चाहता हूं।

खूद का वजूद,
जो खोया मैंने, तुम्हें पाने के लिए,
अब उस वजूद को, अब उस हुनर को,
दुनिया को दिखाना चाहता हूं,
खुदपर ऐतबार करना चाहता हूं,
अब बस मैं खुद से मिलना चाहता हूं।

The Crescent Existence

"Wake up Barbie, Ken is waiting outside!"

I turned up. It was a Sunday morning with seven missed calls on my phone. The coziness of my woollen blanket has magical powers to hold me into it. I broke the chains of laziness by collecting all my energy and piled out of it. That lazy caterpillar of me has much more to grow in itself. The beautiful and not much energetic sunbeams with those dusty roads were ready to glow my face up with its elegant touch. Probably, my food and not Ken is waiting for me and huh.... Who was Barbie then? And where did Ken go? This is me, living in that fairy tale's world. The splendid and fantastic fantasy, the empty thoughts and my foolish brain, ha-ha...

"Couldn't I get an ice-cream now?" this is what my freaking brain is asking me now "And what about a cup full of coffee with sizzling brownie" my clever heart added "Two pieces of Gulab Jamun would replace them nicely" my tummy shouted "My want is to have a glass of Iced Lemon Mint Mojito." oh, this was crazy watery tongue. But I am no sorrier for my food demands now, because this has become the story of my life. My Every Time Partner, this tag now perfectly fits to food. I can always count on it.

But all your apt brainy minds would be thinking "This isn't the reality ISHA, come out of dreams, wake up, open your eyes and try to look at the material things. This is not how actually world looks like."

Here and now, my world is out of The Actuality, different from your perceptions and totally unsubstantial. Number of sports car, my house lighted with the Stars followed by fragrance of the Moon, decorated by grace of the Sun and food all around is my kind of allusion. My Fairy Tale World, where I met the most magnificent souls and the best charms of my life. Those enchanting nights hum a pleasant to hear song and always reminds me of all the love of my life. That elegant beauty is non-descriptive. And perceiving my love regarding adventure is another adventure I am moving towards. Huh....

"Reality, hope to see you soon." my soul screamed.

Indeed, I realized!

said a hopeful heart to a practical mind.

Why People Hate Work?

By: Kushagra Rao (Sem V)

Most people in the world hate working. Working or precisely doing your job means doing that particular thing every day. We spend most of our lives working so, technically hating work means hating life. Why it happens? Why you don't like working?

Personally, I hate it because: I have to wait for the weekend all week to get some rest and do what currently interest me. I find work either exhausting, boring, stressful, unhealthy or dangerous, so I can't actually like it. I could do so many stuff instead but I have to pay the bills. You can't actually do your own business instead because the big dogs will eat you alive... I work so I can live but I either don't have the money or the time to live, so it seems pointless, but I have no other option. The basic concept is that we humans don't like to do anything out of compulsion. Anything we do out of compulsion becomes work for us and everything we choose for ourselves is fun.

Take for example, lifting. If I tell you to lift heavy loads as a worker, then you will frown upon it. On the other hand, you will lift the heaviest weights in gym because now it's your hobby and you love those muscles. When I read my textbooks, I have to use my GIGANTIC WILL POWER, but when I read a novel, my mind flows like lightning and thunder. Now everyone should start following this "work and play principle" and it really works. When you pursue your hobbies, then you do it very seriously as if your life depends on it and when you work, try to enjoy every bit and learn things in a fun way.

"Work is either fun or drudgery, it depends on your Attitude." - Colleen C. Barret
