ABOUT THE CERTIFICATE COURSE ON 'ELECTION LAW':

Election law refers to the body of laws, rules, and regulations that govern the process of conducting elections. These laws are designed to ensure fair, transparent, and democratic elections. They cover various aspects of the electoral process, including voter eligibility, candidate qualifications, campaign finance, political parties, voting procedures, and resolving disputes or irregularities.

The development of election law in India has evolved through various stages to ensure the conduct of free and fair elections, reflecting the country's democratic values. The electoral framework in India has undergone significant changes over time, influenced by constitutional provisions, legislative amendments, judicial interpretations, and administrative reforms.

India's election law continues to evolve to address contemporary challenges and ensure the integrity and inclusivity of the electoral process. The aim remains to uphold democratic principles and provide a level playing field for all stakeholders in the electoral arena.

The proposed program is designed, keeping in view the concept of the present electoral system of India. The program will cover qualification and disqualification of voters and candidates for election, Administrative machinery for elections, electoral offences, electoral disputes and mechanism to resolve disputes and contemporary issues
