XV ILNU-CCI ANTITRUST MOOT 2026

EVENT OVERVIEW

The Institute of Law, Nirma University [ILNU] this year, is organizing the XV edition of the ILNU-CCI Antitrust Conference, Moot Court Competition and Paper Presentation 2026 [IAMC]. We take this opportunity to invite your esteemed institution to participate in the Pre-Moot Conference followed by the Competition and add a spark to the indomitable spirit to learn about the nuances of the law.

The panelists for the Pre-Moot Conference have spanned across a spectrum, and their invaluable insights would help enthusiasts traverse deep into this niche area of law. Moot court competitions form a significant co-curricular activity in the lives of law students. Apart from equipping students with the skills required to prepare and argue a case before a Court, it also introduces them to various contemporary and poignant issues of law.

Competition Law is an emerging field of law, and its robust enforcement becomes a prerequisite for ensuring that the economic environment remains competitive and business deals adhere to the principles of fair competition and do not distort the market. Through this event, ILNU ensures that the students are provided a platform to engage and contribute to the ever-expanding field of competition law. ILNU would be glad to host your representatives as our guests from 27th February to 1st March, 2026.

THE XV ILNU ANTITRUST MOOT 2026

We are pleased to announce that the XV IAMC 2026 will be held in collaboration with Competition Commission of India [CCI] from 27th February to 1st March, 2026 on our campus. Moot court competitions constitute an important co-curricular activity in the academic journey of law students. In addition to equipping students with the skills necessary to prepare and argue cases before a court of law, they expose participants to diverse areas of law and contemporary legal issues. IAMC is one such flagship mooting event in the country, requiring students to demonstrate excellence across multiple parameters. The competition focuses on the intersection of economic and legal nuances of competition law, the significance of which cannot be overstated.

IAMC has consistently distinguished itself as a premier moot court competition, attracting enthusiastic participation from over 70 reputed law schools across India. Building upon a legacy of excellence and enriching experiences spanning the past 14 years, we are pleased to announce in collaboration with Competition Commission of India, AZB & Partners as the Title Partner for the third consecutive year, the George Washington Competition and Innovation Lab (GW CIL) as the University Partner, Concurrences as the Exclusive International Media Partner, and FTI Consulting, Compass Lexecon and SCC Online as Knowledge Partners. Additionally, Esya Centre as our Think Tank Partner and SCC Times as the Media Partner.

IN COLLABORATION WITH

Competition Commission of India

CCI is the antitrust regulator that the Government of India established on October 14, 2003, to carry out the Competition Act of 2002, which adheres to the principles of contemporary competition legislation. The CCI also seeks to create a healthy competitive environment through proactive involvement with all stakeholders, including customers, businesses, the government, and other nations. The Commission's responsibility is to act in accordance with the goals outlined in the Competition Act, namely to forbid anti-competitive agreements, prevent business abuse of their dominant position, and regulate combinations (acquisition, acquiring of control, and M&A) that have an appreciable negative impact on competition in India or that are likely to do so.

The Commission, a quasi-judicial organization, is also expected to provide an opinion on competition-related matters in response to a referral from a statutory entity established by any law, engage in competition advocacy, raise public knowledge of the topic, and provide training on the subject. To accomplish its goals, the Commission often works with educational institutions to conduct training sessions, panel discussions, and conferences on topics related to competition law and practice. In addition, the Commission frequently gives students and young professionals internship opportunities and hosts national essay writing competitions.

The University's library serves as a key resource and learning centre for the university's more than 6,000 users.

ABOUT THE MOOT COURT COMMITTEE (ORGANIZING)

The Moot Court Committee (Organizing) [“MCC(O)”] is one of the oldest and most esteemed committees at ILNU. Established with the objective of fostering advocacy skills, legal research, and courtroom acumen among students, the committee has been at the forefront of organizing some of the most prestigious moot court competitions in the country. MCC(O) is entrusted with the responsibility of hosting ILNU’s flagship event in collaboration with CCI, IAMC. Since its inception, IAMC has provided a platform for law students to engage in rigorous debates and discussions on contemporary issues in competition law and antitrust regulations.

Over the years, the committee has successfully organized 14 editions of the competition and is now gearing up for the XV edition, reinforcing its commitment to excellence and academic growth. IAMC has consistently attracted the participation of top-tier law schools across the country, fostering an environment of intellectual rigor and legal proficiency. It has evolved into a hub of excellence, bringing together legal scholars, experienced practitioners, and budding lawyers to engage in stimulating discussions on antitrust and competition law. The competition is recognized for its high standards of advocacy and its role in nurturing the next generation of legal professionals. As the MCC(O) prepares to host the XV Edition of IAMC, it remains committed to upholding the highest standards of legal discourse, fostering an environment of academic excellence, and providing participants with an unparalleled learning experience. The committee continues its quest to elevate the competition to new heights, ensuring that IAMC remains a beacon of advocacy, scholarship, and legal expertise in the field of competition law.

ABOUT THE CENTRE FOR COMPETITION LAW AND MARKET STUDY

The Centre for Competition Law and Market Study [“CCLMS”] at ILNU was established as a hub for advancing knowledge and fostering dialogue in competition law and policy. The Centre provides a platform for scholars, practitioners, and policymakers to engage in discussions on the intersection of competition law with other areas of law and its implications for emerging markets. CCLMS is committed to promoting cutting-edge research, organizing events, and building partnerships to influence the development of antitrust policy in India.

Over the years, CCLMS has organized impactful conferences and panel discussions on diverse topics such as digital gatekeepers, merger control regimes, and abuse of dominance in digital markets. These events have featured esteemed speakers from leading Tier-1 law firms, regulatory bodies, and academia, including experts like Mr. Avinash Mehrotra (FTI Consulting), Ms. Hemangini Dadwal (AZB & Partners), Ms. Aparna Mehra (Shardul Amarchand Mangaldas), and Mr. Rahul Rai (Axiom5 Law Chambers), among many others. These discussions have not only enriched the understanding of competition law but have also contributed to shaping public discourse on pressing issues.

CCLMS is proud to have undertaken several significant consultancy projects. Notable among them are the policy assessment of motor spirit and high-speed diesel regulations (sponsored by CCI) and a collaborative research initiative on common ownership in competition law with Kyushu University, Japan. These projects underscore the Centre’s commitment to producing actionable insights that inform policy and legal frameworks. In addition to organizing expert lectures and discussions, CCLMS actively engages students through research initiatives, workshops, and internships, fostering the next generation of antitrust practitioners. The Centre also collaborates with international universities and law firms, enabling students and faculty to gain global perspectives on competition law. Plans are underway to expand its focus to include interdisciplinary research on data privacy, artificial intelligence, and their interplay with competition law.

ABOUT THE ILNU ANTITRUST CONFERENCE 2026

This year, CCLMS and MCC(O), with an aim to foster valuable and efficacious discourse on competition law, are proud to announce the fourth edition of the ILNU Antitrust Conference.

The conference aims to serve as a platform for thought leadership by bringing together experts to discuss how parity clauses and duopolistic market structures influence competitive dynamics in platform-driven markets, with particular emphasis on their impact within the Indian context. By bridging academia and industry, it seeks to provide a space for meaningful dialogue that contributes to both legal scholarship and practical policymaking. The event will foster robust discussions that highlight emerging trends in competition law, provide actionable insights, and explore the evolving landscape of market power.

To provide a focused and enriched experience, the conference will feature sub-themes that reflect the most pressing and relevant topics in this dynamic domain. These sub-themes, carefully curated by experts, will be announced within the next ten days. Participants can look forward to an engaging and enlightening event that equips them with the knowledge and tools needed to address the complexities of market dominance in the modern era.
